WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Washington Sept. 12.—Democrats in Washington at this time are watching with keen interest the outcome of the Senatorial contest in New Mexico, They are hoping to put the state back into the Democratic column and with this end in view are turning some of their biggest political guns upon the commonwealth. Senator Bursum, the Republican incumbent is a candidate for re-election while Judge Hanna is the Democratic opponent for the Senatorship. The battle is being fought out mainly on national issues and if the Democrats are successful such a victory will prove a body blow to the present Republican administration. Prominent spell binders of both parties will be heard in the campaign and the result will be watched with deep concern.

Soon to Have Delegates

Now that members of the American delegation to the conference on the limitation of armaments have been announced by President Harding it is expected that the other nations invited to attend the gathering will follow suit and make public the selection of their delegations. It is generally understood that Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, will head the delegation from England, while M. Briand, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, is likely to lead the delegation from France. Washington is already making preparations for the forthcoming conference and for the reception of the visiting delegations.

Pershing to go to Paris

General Pershing, Chief of Staff, will sail on Wednesday for Paris, where on October 2 he will award the medal of honor voted by Congress to the unknown soldier of France whose body was placed in the arch of triumph. General Pershing, in all probability, will be accompanied by a high naval officer. The General will make an inspection of the graves registration service, of American cemeteries in France and of the Army of Occupation on the Rhine. He will be back in Washington in time to greet Marshal Foch, of France, who is expected at the National Capital during the meeting of the conference on the limitation of armaments.

Expect Continuous Session

It is expected that the Sixty-Seventh Congress will set a new record for continuous sessions. The program before the Congress when it returns on September 21 is huge and some of the prominent leaders of both houses are beginning to realize that the Congress convened by President Harding on April 11 last, with the exception of one or two short intervals will remain in practically continuous session until it expires by limitation on March 4, 1923.

Tax Revision Bill.

It is the hope of the members of the Senate Finance Committee to be able to complete hearings on the tax revision measure in time to report out a bill to the Senate when Congress reconvenes after the recess of Congress is over. There is very little hope that a Republican tariff bill will be placed upon the statute books before next year as it is the plan of the Republican leaders to let tariff revision await until the tax problem is settled. Senator Smoot, of Utah, is going to make every effort to have the Finance Committee include in any program for tax legislation his plan for a sales tax. If it is not adopted by the committee Senator Smoot will then offer it as amendment to the bill when it reaches the Senate.

SCREEN STAR ACTOR HELD

Formal Charge for Death of Miss Virginia Rappe Today.

IS KEPT IN PRISON

Dead Woman Told Nurse Comedian Had Injured Her—Statement Given Out by Police.

San Francisco, Sept. 12.—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle is held without bail in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, film actress.

Miss Rappe was removed from Arbuckle's suite in the Saint Francis Hotel last Monday afternoon, suffering agony. She died after lingering for days under treatment for alcoholism. Her death now proves to have been due to an internal rupture which caused peritonitis.

Arbuckle is not held on a warrant which could not be made out legally Sunday. The police said they were holding Arbuckle "for taking a human life while in the act of committing or attempting to commit a lenoy."

Mrs. Jean Jemeson a nurse, who was with Miss Rappe during her last hours, in a statement swore that Miss Rappe, suffering great pain, kept moaning that Arbuckle had injured her.

"It wouldn't be right for me to pay for all this when it was Roscoe's fault" Miss Rappe moaned to the nurse, according to Mrs. Jameson.

Mrs. Jameson said that Miss Rappe in her dying moments repeatedly requested her to "get Roscoe; he is responsible for all this." The nurse said Miss Rappe meant her to summon Arbuckle to her bedside, not to "get" him in the sense of revenge.

Yesterday afternoon Arbuckle's counsel permitted him only to deny the charges altogether.

The police gave out the following names as participants in the party in Arubuckle's suite last Monday; Roscoe Arbuckle, Miss Virginia Rappe Ira G. Fort Loius, a New York wardrobe salesman; Miss Alice Blake, a San Francisco cafe entertainer; Mrs. B. M. Delmonte, of Los Angeles, friend of Miss Rappe; Lowell Sherman of Los Angeles, a friend of Arbuckle; Fred Fishbeck, of Los Angeles motion picture director; Al Semnacher, manager of Miss Rappe; Miss Zey Pyvron a San Francisco show girl.

All of these people have now made affidavits. Some disagree on some incidents.

Liquor was served, the affidavits agree on this. Miss Pyvron and Mrs. Delmonte in affidavits, swear that they heard Miss Rappe moaning and rushed to get into Arbuckle's room to aid her. They found the door bolted. Finally, they declare, Arbuckle emerged, and they rushed in part him to find Miss Rappe almost without clothing her costume torn to shreds and strewn about the room.

"I am dying! I am dying!" the young actress was moaning,, they assert. They plunged her into a cold bath. This had no beneficial effect. A doctor was called.

The autopsy surgeons reported officially that Miss Rappe died from the effects of an internal rupture, adding that the girl's physical condition might have contributed to the tragedy. Dr. William Ophuls one of the surgeons, declared the injury to have been due to natural causes.

"There was absolutely no evidence of a criminal assault," Dr. Ophuls stated.

THREE SMALL FIRES

The gasoline tank of an Indian motorcycle took fire at 6:45 o'clock last night while the driver was on Mount Vernon avenue north of Union Station, and the machine was considerably damaged. No. 5 engine responded and subdued the flames with chemicals.

A small fire at the residence of Mrs. J. M. Jacobs, 718 Queen street, caused an alarm. A child in the house, it is reported, set fire to a bed. The flames were subdued with a chemical extinguisher before any material damage was done.

The department, at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, was called out for a small fire on the river front. The blaze had been extinguished when the fire department arrived.

The boy was taken to the Alexandria Hospital by Dr. Charles H. Merryman of Bradley Hills, Md., and the injured member reset by Drs. Delaney and Moore. He said he hoped the Richmond newspapers would at least be fair to him. He further asserted that he has recanted nothing in his Denver statement.

An attendance of more than 200 students is expected.

Southern railway detectives rounded up members of the gang in Danville, this state, and Ruffin, N. C., after working about three weeks on the case.

DEATH ROSTER IN FLOOD AREA

60 Known Dead—47 at San Antonio Where List May Reach 300.

10,000 MILE AREA SWEPT

Damage to Property and Crops Will Run Into Many Millions—Other Sections Menaced.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 11.—Reports of loss of life and property damage as a result of Friday night's deluge mounted steadily today with restoration of communication into the Central Texas flood district. Tonight it has been established that an area extending north as far as Georgetown, south to below San Antonio, west to San Marcos and east to Calvert and Bryan or approximately 10,000 square miles, felt the effect of flood waters.

Sixty persons, including forty-seven here, are known to be dead.

Property loss is regarded as almost beyond estimate. In this city it is placed at $5,000,000, and it is believed that he loss to growing crops in the rural districts may run into many millions of dollars, while live stock losses will account for hundreds of thousands of dollars more.

Death List Estimates.

The dead and missing in this city are estimated at approximately 250 by officials engaged in recovering the bodies, while Police Commissioner Phil Wright estimated that it might reach 300, which list may be swelled as the work of recovering bodies proceeds in the flood-swept area.

While it has been declared that possibly the majority of the estimated dead floated down the streams, the searchers here believe that as the wreckage and driftwood is cleared away other bodies will be recovered.

Rescue and relief work continued all last night and today. Hundreds of Mexicans and the poorer people who lived along the Alazan are homeless, and were given assistance by the relief headquarters established in a downtown building.

Mexican Boy Saves Child.

Perhaps the outstanding heroism of the flood was that of a twelve-year-old Mexican boy, who clung to a tree on South Flores street for five hours holding on his shoulders above the water a child five years old. The boy rescuer was battered black and blue by floating wreckage, and was taken to a hospital unconscious. The child was unharmed.

On Fourth street a man barely escaped from an apartment house before part of it was swept into the river. In the water which flooded the apartment he was unable to find his wife and child. Nearly an hour later, at the New Ramona street bridge, he saw a house lodge against the railing and heard cries within. Breaking through the roof he pulled out his wife and child safe on a floating mattres, which was within one foot of the ceiling.

In a back yard on King William street a negress sat on the roof of an outbuilding three hours calling for help, while water twelve feet deep raced through the yard.

Precautions to prevent an epidemic are being taken. The cleaning up proceeded systematically in every part of the business district today. Proprietors of business establishments and forces of employes were sweeping and brushing out the water and debris while pumps drained basements.

A check by D. D. Harrigan, city engineer, showed that thirteen of the twenty-seven bridges spanning the San Antonio river are virtually undamaged. Only one bridge was washed away. Others were lifted and set at different angles on the banks.

The rapidity with which the waters receded after the rains stopped is accounted for by the city being at the headwaters of the three streams.

Other Sections Menaced.

Georgetown, in Williamson county, reports two persons dead and three missing, with property damage of approximately half million dollars. Sixteen inches of rain in twenty-four hours sent all streams out of bounds, and cattle and cotton in the lowlands are a total loss.

In addition to the thousands of square miles of central Texas already hit, more southern sections now are menaced by the onrushing water. The San Marcos river is on a rampage, much baled cotton has been washed away and ungathered crops are almost complete losses, reports indicate.

The Little river and Big and Little Brazos also were running full. Calvert and Bryan report five dead from

CHESTER RIVER YIELDS BODIES OF 25 VICTIMS

Chester, Pa., Sept. 11 (Special).—With the recovery of the body of the lad whose plight was the innocent cause of Saturday night's disaster—the last to be taken from the river's mud—the all-night, all-day search of divers ended at nightfall with the definite assertion that the twenty-five bodies in the morgue represented the total toll of death due to the collapse of Third street bridge. Five injured in the accident are in a hospital.

Chester Mourns Its Dead.

It was a day of mourning throughout Chester today. From early morning until nightfall crowds surrounded the scene of the accident.

Although charges have been made that the accident could be traceable to neglect of the bridge, which is thirty-four years old, the coroner and county commissioners said that the structure never has been condemned officially.

A small wrought-iron gusset plate, part of the support for a path along the side of the structure, which had been half eaten by rust, gave way under the weight of nearly a hundred persons, who were attracted to the spot by the cries of a drowning boy, and precipitated the victims into the river.

The last body to be dragged from the deep mud at the bottom of the river was that of eight-year-old Charles Apostolus, the child whose death was the inadvertent cause of the accident. It was recovered shortly before noon yesterday and placed at the end of the row of twenty-four victims whose bodies reposed in the morgue awaiting removal to their former homes.

At least 60,000 others who came late were turned away.

Ten thousand straw hats, 5,000 cushions, 2,000 streams of torn scorecards and 28,000 endearing adjectives were hurled on the greensward when Bob Meusel hit a home run and won the second game for the Yankees—"the biggest ever" in the way of a demonstration for a player.

Two Big Structures Reduced By Flames

WAREHOUSES AT PLANTS OF VIRGINIA SHIPBUILDING CORPORATION AND MUTUAL ICE COMPANY DESTROYED SATURDAY NIGHT.

THIRD BLAZE IS ARK ON RIVER

Fires an Hour Apart—Entire Water Front Threatened. Fortunately Little Wind Was Blowing at Time—Both Fires Subdued by Midnight—Firefighter Helps at Blaze at Mutual Ice Company's Plant—Search for Supposed Incendiaries Is on—Several Volunteers Slightly Injured.

The heart of the wholesale and manufacturing district of the city was threatened with being wiped out Saturday night as a result of three separate fires, each about a mile apart, which entailed damage estimated at $227,750, partially covered by insurance.

The first and most serious fire was at the general storage warehouse of the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation where damage estimated at $200,000 was done.

The loss to building and contents is covered by insurance it is stated by Treasurer Christie.

The second blaze an hour afterward was at the frame warehouse of the Mutual Ice Co., used jointly by the government and the ice company. the loss to building and contents together with the loss to the firm of W. A. Smoot will reach $27,250 covered by insurance.

The third fire was an ark belonging to James Deane on the river front north of the plant of the Old Dominion Glass Company"s factory which took fire about the same time the fire ocurred at Mutual Ice Company warehouse. The fire department did not respond to this fire. Damage will be less than $1,000. All three fires are supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

Exactly at 7.40 o'clock Sergt. Wilkinson at police headquarters received a message that there was a fire at the plant of the Virginia Shipbuilding Company, word being received from John Sisson, 723 South Lee street who saw the blaze from his house. A few minutes afterward the watchman at the shipyard telephoned there was a fire at the plant. In the meantime the alarm had been sent to the three engine houses and every piece of motor-apparatus in the city was making its way to the shipyard. When the firemen arrived the big storage warehouse was a mass of flames. It was doomed. Fortunately there was no wind of any consequence blowing and the firemen confined their efforts to preventing a spread of the fire to the adjoining buildings which were menaced by the flames. In this they were successful. The fire was an exceedingly hot one and the firemen at times imperiled their lives as the walls fell one by one, the east wall being the last to give in to the flames.

Fire Chief E. J, McDermott upon arriving on the scene directed the work of the firemen and soon had three streams playing on the burning building water being obtained from the river. Coupled with this the fire equipment at the company's plant was put into operation and six streams of water soon were also playing on the structure from their hose. They obtained their water supply from an artesian well. As soon as the fire started the electric powerhouse at the company's plant was put into operation and the big yards were illuminated which greatly aided the firemen in their work. Power also was obtained to pump the water from the well by electricity.

L. D. Christie, treasurer of the company, was at his home in Rosemont when he received a telephone message that there was a fire at the shipyard. Fearing that the entire plant might be destroyed he at once phoned Washington and requested that the boat Firefighter from Washington be sent down. At 8.25 o'clock the Firefighter arrived on the scene and anchored at the company's wharf and three minutes afterward was shooting water toward the fire from its highpowered water cannon. The distance, however, was entirely too far and the water failed to reach its objective point.

For fifteen minutes, however, the adjoining buildings east of the burned structure were sprayed and it was at this time that a telephone message was received that the plant of the Ice Company's warehouse was on fire. The Firefighter immediately proceeded up the river to this plant at the request of Fire Chief McDermott.

In the meantime the shipyard fire was under control. A part of the apparatus at once proceeded to the ice company's warehouse and about half of the men a sufficient force being maintained by the chief at the shipyard to handle the situation.

The firemen worked on the shipyard fire till about midnight and afterward maintained a plug stream which was continued all day Sunday.

The blaze at the shipyard threatened to wipe out the entire plant consisting of twenty-two buildings, all brick and metal structures. The 9,400 ton steel freighter Georgie M. Morse, valued at $2,000,000 was in the water at the company's dock within a hundred yards of the burned building. The fire, however, did not reach her. This ship is about completed with the exception of fitting out the interior. Directly south of the burned building was the immense fabricating plant one of the largest buildings at the yards. This plant was untouched by the flames. It is now being used by the Trent Amalgam Company, engaged in the making of process coal. Part of the equipment of the latter company was on the ground near the burned building and this also was unlamaged The tool paint, and copper shops and power house of the company were other buildings in close proximity to the burned structure.

The burned building was 160 by 100 feet and of brick concrete and steel construction with glass sides, the builders having provided amply for lighting the interior. In this building was stored every piece of equipment necessary for the completion of the interior of the Georgie M. More which included brass, steel, life preservers, pillows, blankets, nautical instruments and a host of other things.

According to Mr. Christie the watchman only a short time prior to the discovery of the fire passed around the burned building and did not see any trace of a fire. The fire apparently came up all of a sudden and may have been burning for some time before it broke out.

A hurry run was made by the fire department to the second fire at the Mutual Ice Company's warehouse. At this fire, too, the firemen arriving on the scene realized that their chief work was in saving the adjoining buildings the frame building 60 by 100 and 50 feet high being enveloped, big black clouds of smoke coming from the structure, and the blaze being visible for miles around.

Several streams were put on the building and several others used on the adjoining building. The fire apparatus at the Alexandria Naval Torpedo Station also was put into operation and the marines helped wonderfully at the fire.

The building was divided into four rooms, each separated by petitions. In the front half of the building was stored about 100 bales of cotton desks and other equipment of the United States Government, the building being leased by the Mutual Ice Company to the Bureau of Markets. In the second or east half of the building the Mutual Ice Company had stored a quantity of equipment including three collapsible icing stations, four wagons an old automobile and other goods. Their loss according to Mr. Harry Hammond probably will be in the neighborhood of $15,000 with about $9,000 insurance.

R. V. Bailey, assistant to the chief of the Bureau of Markets today told a representative of the Gazette that there was stored in the building 100 bales of cotton, used by the Agricultural Department for tests, and about $500 worth of office furniture, including desks and chairs. Out of the 100 bales of cotton only about ten bales can be salvaged and the loss to the cotton at the rate of 15 cents per pound which was made by Mr. Bailey as to this particular cotton would make the loss $6750 for cotton and the $500 for office furniture would make the total loss to the government $7250.

The fire soon spread to the lumber yard of W. A. Smoot and Company, incorporated, and a small auxiliary mill about 20 by 25 feet a one-story

TODAY'S THOUGHT The poorest man may in his cottage bid defiance to all the force of the Crown. It may be frail; its roof may shake; the wind may blow through it; the storms may enter, the rains may enter,—but the King of England cannot enter; all his forces dare not cross the threshold of the ruined tenement.

ANDERSON'S SCREED

The spokesman of the Republican party in Virginia, Henry W. Anderson, has spoken quite at large in his Lexington address. In fact, it takes up more than a page in the Richmond papers of the 6th instant. As a paid advertisement its value is open to serious doubt. As to its value as a political screed, however, there can be no doubt whatever. Fully half of it is devoted to those glittering political generalities to which no one can object. They belong to no one party, to no particular time, and were as apposite a hundred years ago as they are today, or as they will be a hundred years hence. Their proper place is in a Fourth-of-July oration at a barbecue, where the speaker is naturally expected to have a stranglehold on the Eagle's tail-feathers and make him scream at pleasure. The references to Washington, Jefferson, Lee and Jackson might be touching from other lips and on another occasion. But uttered in a stump speech in Virginia by the Republican candidate for governor, they are more grotesque than otherwise.

The attacks on the Democratic party are, of course, to be expected. But in so far as they relate to an alleged machine-control, to party manipulation, or to an averred office-holding bureaucracy — they rebound with ten-fold force on the Republican party. The notorious and almost disreputable attempts of Postmaster-General Will Hayes at the present time, using the United States mails for partisan publicity, to establish the Republican machine at every cross-roads post-office, are forcible reminders of the weak and incongruous position taken by Mr. Anderson.

The speaker's attack on Virginia's tax laws likewise fails of lodgment, as does his criticism of our educational status. Trinkle and Tucker, both, covered these points fully and effectively in their campaign speeches. That both systems can be and will be improved during the next administration, goes without saying. Nothing of human instrumentality is perfect. The Democratic party fundamentally recognizes this fact and can be relied upon to keep the paths of progress and reform with far more certainty than the Republicans, whose very principles are reactionary and regressive in all their tendencies.

Mr. Anderson is the candidate of the so-called "lily whites." This is merely a sop to Cerberus. A fact of dangerous significance to the state under a possible Republican control, lies in the action of the recent Republican convention which earnestly endorsed changes in the electoral requirements that would give the colored vote the control of the Republican party.

The Republicans are unwontedly active this year in the Southern states. With a federal executive and congress in power they are more prone than usual to fond dreams and foolish visions. The great Democratic party in Virginia must not for a moment relax its proverbial vigilance. It must be up and doing as never before. Every true son of Virginia owes it as a solemn duty this year to cast his vote at the polls, and overwhelmingly rebuke Republican arrogance and pretentiousness.

Appoints Dr. A. P. M'Cloud

Williamsburg, Va. Sept. 12.—The Department of Science at the College of William and Mary has increased remarkably in the last few years, and this year, to accomodate the increased demand for scientific studies, President J. A. C. Chandler has appointed Dr. A. F. McCloud as professor of theoretical chemistry, as an additional professor in the department.

Dr. McCloud comes to William and Mary from Beloit College, where he has been a professor of chemistry for nine years. Prior to that time he was engaged as an associate professor of chemistry at the University of Nebraska for two years. He is a graduate of the University of Chicago where he was awarded his Doctor of Philosophy degree. This summer Dr. McCloud taught in the William and Mary summer school.

Every year William and Mary is sending more students to the medical colleges of the country, and the college prides itself on its pre-medical course, which is a thorough one in every detail. Wiliam and Mary graduates and pre-medical students are admitted without question in the largest medical schools in the United States. This fall the college will enter two students in the medical college of John Hopkins University, and another in the medical school of Harvard.

FIVE PHILADELPHIANS SAVED IN SHORE SURF

Atlantic City, Sept. 12.—A nor'easter of moderate force kicked up a rough sea yesterday afternoon and gave life guards plenty to do in rescuing unwary bathers. Five Philadelphians were saved.

At South Carolina avenue, where the throng of bathers was the greatest, Charles Gifford of 4965 Walton street, Philadelphia, figured in a sensational rescue when Guards Murray and McCullom went to his assistance with a surf boat.

At the same point three other Philadelphians were brought ashore by the same guards. They were Edward Thumpton, George Dean and James Coster. R. J. Richardson, also of Philadelphia, was brought in by Guards Eble and Murray when he was caught in the currents off Tennessee avenue.

PRESIDENT'S CAR IS ORDERED TO "SLOW-UP" ON THE PIKE

Magnolia, N. J., Sept. 11.—President Harding and his motor party on their way to the seashore last night came very near being stopped on the White Horse pike for speeding. There were four automobiles in the party and they were running along the pike at a good clip when Justice of the Peace William Jackson called to them to "slacken up."

Not until the fourth car had passed did Jackson detect that it was the President's party. Today Justice Jackson said it would not have made any difference who it was if the cars had not slowed down he would have halted them and invited all occupants to his office. He is sorry that he did not do it any way so that he could have greeted the President and welcomed him to Magnolia.

CATCH THE GREASED "GASOLINE HOG"

Suggestion is made in the September issue of American Industries that States throughout the country set out now to establish laws that will make life a burden to "gasoline hogs" of all kinds that infect the highways, and endanger pedestrians and themselves. "Gasoline hogs" are divided into the following classes of dangerous and inconsiderate drivers:

1. The man who leaves his empty car standing in a busy street all day long.
2. The man who turns a corner at 15 miles an hour after a single toot of the horn giving the pedestrian no chance.
3. The man who passes to the left of the building line when haulted by a crossing cop.
4. The man who pases to the left of a trolley car, whether the street is empty or crowded.
5. The man who refuses to stay in the traffic line, and persists in edging ahead of the man in front of him.
6. The man who uses the left side of the stret or roadway to get ahead of the line.
7. The man who, intending to turn a corner, rushes up alongside of the car on the right, thrusts out his hand, swings across the front of the other and compels the later driver to make his car stand on its nose to prevent a collision.
8. And the worse nuisance of all, the man whose passangers stick their hands out in all directions, leaving you to guess whether he intends going to the right or left or up in the air.

LOSS $227,570 FIREBUGS SUSPECTED

brick structure was destroyed together with several thousand feet of undressed lumber adjoining the warehouse.

The auxiliary mill contained a rip saw, motor and planer. Mr. Smoot yesterday in looking over his plant estimated that his damage will not exceed $5,000 and the loss is covered by insurance he stated.

The intensity of the heat at this fire was far greater than the fire at the shipyard and the firemen were compelled to keep a safe distance from the burning building.

About 9.15 o'clock the Firefighter blew her whistle to land at the Cameron street wharf. In a very few minutes afterward water was being thrown from her water canon on the blaze. Almost immediately the effects were shown for the flames were soon under control, thousands of gallons of water being thrown from the water cannon. Spectators were driven pell mell from the scene, nearby being nearly suffocated by smoke as the flames were being extinguished. Many persons got wet from the spray of the Firefighter and after the first drenching kept a safe distance away.

By midnight this fire was almost completely subdued, although the firemen kept a plug stream going all night.

In view of the fact that there were so many buildings endangered by the fire the firemen brought out the old reserve steam engine No. 4 of the Columbia to the scene and it was put into operation at the foot of Cameron street and did very effective work, water being taken from a nearby plug.

At this fire there was more breeze stirring than at the fire at the shipyard, the result being that firebrands were scattered high in the air falling in almost every direction. The firemen and others were kept busy putting out small blazes in the neighborhood, although most of the roofs of the buildings were of fireproof material.

Directly north of the burned building is the lumber yard and big warehouse of W. A. Smoot and Company, the latter a big brick structure and south of it is located the manufacturplant of the Mutual Ice Company just across the street was the warehouse of Charles King and Son, incorporated, and the latter was at times menaced by the fire. The big Alexandria Naval Torpedo Station, the plant of the Alexandria Fertilizer and Chemical Company, the Alexandria City Gas Works and other big concerns all were in the fire area.

The last fire attracted a far greater throng than the first blaze, owing to the fact that it was more accessible than the other. A crowd estimated at from 8,000 to 10,000 persons gathered on the river front and witnessed the blaze. Hundreds came over from Washington in automobiles, motor bus lines and electric cars to witness the fire. Streets leading to the scene of the fire were packed with automobiles. The firemen today are being highly praised for the successful manner in which they handled both fires. They were assisted by a number of former firemen and other volunteers.

Too much praise cannot be given the Firefighter for the splendid work done at the fire at the warehouse of the Mutual Ice Company.

While the blaze was in progress at the ice company's warehouse another blaze was seen in the northeastern section of the city. The fire was an ark of James Deane and it burned to the ground. No one was aboard the ark at the time. This fire also is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

This fire gave rise to a report that the plant of the Old Dominion Glass Company was on fire. Officials of the company were soon at their plant and were kept busy answering telephone calls of persons desiring to know if the factory was on fire.

The air was full of rumors several other fires being reported at points along the river front and the authorities were kept busy denying these groundless reports.

That the fire was the work of firebugs is the belief of the police, firemen and others. The authorities are bending every effort to locate the supposed firegubs and an investigation was begun during the progress of the fires.

At the shipyard there was a watchman and there was a watchman at the Mutual Ice Company's plant and a watchmen for the other buildings in the neighborhood. None, however, saw any trace of the supposed incendiaries. In addition marine guards do duty at the naval torpedo station.

As a result of the two fires the electric service not only of a large section of the city but, in the greater part of Arlington and Fairfax counties was cut off. Owing to the intensity of the heat the high voltage main feeders of the electric company, which ran directly past the scene of the fire, were cut off in order to safe guard the lives of the firemen at the direction of the fire chief. Officials of the Alexandria County Lighting Company remained on the ground and service was reinstated as soon as it was deemed possible to do so without hazard to the lives of the firemen and the crowds that had gathered to witness the blaze. Considerable damage was caused to the feeders of the electric company and the prompt reinstatement of the service was made possible only through the rapid and efficient services of the "trouble" and patrolmen of the electric company.

Never before in the history of th fire department did the firemen have to contend with two such serious blazes at practically the same time. In view of the fact that they handled both fires in such an excellent manner the citizens generally were loud in their expressions of praise for their splendid work. The local and Washington firemen were tendered suppers by W. A. Smoot and Company and the Mutual Ice Company. The firm of Smoot and Company at once donated $75 to the fire department which today was divided among the three companies.

The members of the police and fire department are thoroughly satisfied that all three fires were of an incendiary origin and an investigation was begun while they were in progress. Mayor Duncan is co-operating with the police in this work and no stone will be left unturned to round up the alleged firebugs. The police declare that they have no clews worth while up to the present time.

A colored woman who lives in the northeastern section of the city was taken in custody yesterday by the police to see if she could shed any light on the fire which destroyed the ark of James Deane. The woman was arraigned in the police court today and after hearing the testimony of several witnesses she was acquitted by Justice Snowden. She denied that she made the statement attributed by some one to her, "Let the ark burn." According to the woman she left the ark about 7 o'clock Saturday night two hours before the fire was discovered. She said there was no fire and neither were there any lights on the ark at the time she left. She stated that she felt confident the blaze was the work of firebugs.

Several clews furnished the police regarding the other fires are being run down and absolutely nothing will be left undone to bring the parties responsible for the fires to justice.

Several firemen and civilians received slight burns and cuts, and some suffered heat exhaustion as a result of the fires. Probably the most seriously injured was L. H. Taliafero driver for the Washington Alexandria Rapid Transit Company, of 114 South Fayette street. He was injured at the fire at the Ice Company's warehouse and sustained a sprained back and also injuries to his hip. He was taken to the Alexandria Hospital and treated by Drs. Arthur Snowden and S. B. Moore and left the hospital yesterday morning. He was compelled to use crutches.

Dr. C. C. Kress of the Alexandria Naval Torpedo Station, treated several persons for slight injuries at the hospital at the Torpedo Station, M. J. O'Brien, hospital apprentice had his face and shoulders burned and his left wrist was sprained. He was fighting the fire at the shipyard when the nozzle got away from him it is stated.

Two other men who were fighting the fire at the ice company's warehouse, were overcome by heat exhaustion and they also were treated by Dr. Kress. M. F. Padgett, a member of Fire Company No. 5 sustained a bruised shoulder. He, however, did not seek hospital treatment. Many other firemen received small burns and cuts but refused hospital aid.

CHAPLIN, TIRED OUT SPENDS DAY IN BED

London, Sept. 11.—The wild, almost riotous welcome that swept Charlie Chaplin through the streets of London yesterday on his first return home since he left here a poor, knock-about comedian a decade ago, left him limp, listless and wanting sleep. Today he spent in bed.

A valet drew the blinds to just the proper depth to exclude the sun from Charlie's slumbers and then tip-toed out of the chamber. From the streets outside the Ritz there arose to mingle with the purring snore of the comedy king a murmur of hundreds of voices in conversational tone. The people were considerate of Charlie.

It is understood that hereafter when he ventures from the hotel Chaplin will be accompanied by a stalwart bodyguard to "protect" him from the thousands of people who would mob him in their eagerness to shake his hand.

THE PERFECT WOMAN

(For the Gazette.)

For a perfect woman the correct weight for 5 feet 8 inches height is 141 pounds; for a man, 146 pounds.

The perfect woman's foot should equal in length one-seventh of her height.

What is called a perfect "36" has a bust measure of 36 1-2 to 38 inches; but 37 is the ideal. Seventy-five per cent of the women are below the 36 inch standard.

In the hand of the perfect woman the third finger is longer than the first, or index finger, while in a man the perfect proportions are a longer first finger than the third.

Physical culture lectures say the perfect woman should be able to touch the floor with her hands without bursting a seam in her clothes.

In the foot of the perfect woman the line along the inside of the foot from the great toe to the heel is perfectly straight. The toes are very flexible. The foot has neither high arch nor narrow ball. It is free from callous and its twenty-six bones are in normal position.

The measurements as descriptive of the perfect woman, as approved by a New York sculptor, follow: Height 5 feet 7 inches; weight, 140 pounds; wrist, 6 1-2 inches; bust, 36 inches; waist, 24 1-2 inches; hips, 42 inches; thigh, 22 inches; knee 17 inches; calf, 15 inches; ankle 8 inches; size of glove, 6 1-4; size of shoe, 3 1-2; color of hair, chestnut brown; color of eyes, hazel.

MEN'S AUTUMN HATS
ARE NOW READY

In just one week from now the man wearing anything but a fall hat will be subjecting his knowledge of correct dress to very grave questioning. Custom has decreed that the Straw Hat be discarded on September 15.

We are ready now to offer men correct new styles in Autumn Headwear of the better kinds. And we are ready with a variety of styles and a largeness of selection that far outstrips any previous season.

Hats made for three distinct types of men, and each type with many different variations

Hats made especially for big men, for medium size men and for small men, and sufficient variety in each of these types to please every man.

The new shapes give preference to the narrow curl brim and medium crown, but there are others with rather straight brims. Some with bow in back, others at side; the wide pure silk grosgrain ribbon band is featured on nearly all our soft hats.

On Saturday the Dreadnaughts, with a patch up ball club defeated the Bay State A. C, by the score of 3 to 2, after a hard fought battle Alexander pitched a good game for the Big D, but his team failed to do much with the stick. With three on and none out in the ninth, the Bay State failed to score through the work of Devers, Stevens and Long with a lightning double play.

Dreadnaughts, 2; Shamrocks, 1.

One of the greatest ball games ever witnessed by any baseball fans was played Sunday at the Dreadnaughts Park between the Shamrocks and the Dreadnaughts in a 11 inning battle, the home club winning by the score of 2 to 1. Walter Bealle, straight from the Minors, pitched a great ball game for the Shamrocks striking out 20 men and allowing 5 hits. Frye, while not quite successful as his opponents, allowed 6 hits and struck out 8, but his team played air tight ball especially the out field, who gathered in everything that came their way. The infield work of both teams was excellent, with the exception of the ninth when the Shamrocks weakened. The game went scoreless for 10 innings, in the beginning of the 11th the Shamrocks scored on two doubles in succession. The crowd was temporarily insane when the Big Ds took their turn at the bat in the 11th. McMahon the first man up, hit to short and was safe at first and took second on an overthrow. Williams, bunted to Bealle and was safe at first and stole second. With two on and none out, Ludlow, with blood in his eyes, smashed a double to right winning the greatest ball game ever seen on a sand lot in this section of the country.

McMahon, one of the greatest sand lot third basemen that ever played in this city, is lost to the Dreadnaughts for the remainder of the season, having returned to take up his studies at the Staunton Military Academy. Berkle right from the minors will cover third for the Dreadnaughts for the remainder of the season.

Next Sunday the Dreadnaughts will entertain the crack Charlottesville nine, and if the fans want to see a good ball game, come out and look the Big D's. over.

The Virginia A. C. Midgets having organized a football team, held their second practice Friday afternoon.

Captain "Jeff" Phillips sent the team through a stiff workout which consited mainly of catching passes and receiving punts and also to recover fumbles.

Most of the famous eleven of last year put in their appearance but are having a hard time to hold their own against competition.

Coach "Puds" McKemie is one of Alexandria's best football players, and has been considered by many the backbone of the Virginia A. C. line up.

these streams, and property and crops damaged about $1,000,000. At Bastrop, in Brazos county, the Colorado river went over its banks Saturday night and did great crop damage.

At Hearne the Brazos and Litle rivers tonight were falling, but great damage is left in the flood's wake. Six negroes are known to be dead. An area four miles wide from Temple to Hearne was under water, at an average depth of fifteen feet, reports state.

Communicated

Editor of the Gazette: Dear Sir:

Will you please allow me a small space in your paper? The two fires in our city at one time on Saturday night last, demonstrated the fact that our city needs very badly a fire tug to protect the large industries on our river front. Had it not been for the firefighter of Washington I do sincerely believe the Alexandria Fertilizer Plant would have been destroyed. The wind was blowing in that direction and big fire brands falling over it kept the men busy on top of the sheds of the plant, putting them out. We have some very large plants on our river front, and had we a fire boat such as the firefighter, they would have a good protector against fire. We mechanics have to depend on these big industries for our living, and it is to our interest that they are properly protected at all times. I know well that it would be an expense to maintain such a fire boat and laso an extra tax but I believe our people would willingly pay the extra taxes for the protection. I know I would for one. I believe in Alexandria because it is my home and birth place, and I want to see her prosper and her large industries have a fire protection that is a real protector. I have been working for the firm of Smoot and Co., for very nearly 40 years and they suffered loss at the Saturday night's fire, and I am interested in that firm because I am one of their workmen. I am a subscriber to the Gazette and a member of Columbia Company No. 4 and I would like to read some of our other citizens' communications on that very important question.

Thanking you in advance for your kindness and space, I am most respectfully,

Yours CHAS. R. HERBERT.

MAN WHO SERVED FOR SLACKER BURIED

Philadelphia Sept. 12.—The man who served in the place of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger, and who fell in the battle of the Argonne in 1918, was buried with full military honors here yesterday. Russell Gross underweight, but anxious to enter the fight when a vacancy in the quota was left by Bergdoll's desertion went to France in May, 1918. In October he was killed.

Members of the American Legion and G. A. R., together with soldiers from Camp Dix marched in the funeral procession.

PRESIDENT VETOES GOLD DINNER PLATES AND LIKE LUXURIES

Atlantic Sity, N. J., Sept. 11.—The Presidential veto was exercised here today when Warren G. Harding disapproved elaborate plans that had been made for the entertainment of his party.

Among other things a solid gold dinner service of 1,000 pieces, gotten out especially for the Presidential meals, was returned unused to the Ritz-Carlton safe. When Mr. Harding heard the gold service was to be used he balked. He asked to be "furnished with the tools to which I have become accustomed." As a result silver plated cutlery, steel knives and china dishes graced the table.

Other special preparatons also went by the board. The President was here, he said, just like thousands of others—for a week-end—and he expected and wanted no special favors.

CHAPLIN IS WELCOMED LIKE KING

Berlin, Sept. 12.—A welcome exceeding anything ever given to royalty was accorded Charlie Chaplin, the famous American screen comedian, when he arrived in London today from New York.

The screen star wept at the cordiality of the tremendous ovation and finally had to be rescued from the immense crowd by a detachment of police.

Despite the large force of police the crowd broke through the barriers when Chaplain arrived at Waterloo station.

Thousands of men women and children surged forward, attempting to embrace the comedian and shake him by the hand. There were shouts of "Hello, Charlie," and "Don't throw any pies."

Charlie was amazed although he had received an ovation at Cherbourg when the liner Olympic touched that port, which gave him a foretaste of what to expect in England—his native land.

Charlie stood in the door of the railway car and smiled at his English admirers as they surged around him, with shouts and cries of adultation. This his emotion overcame him and he wept.

Do It Now!

So many coal consumers have delayed putting in their Winter coal this season that there will be an urgent demand when the weather gets cold which will make it impossible for the mines to produce, the railroads to haul or the dealer to handle all orders as satisfactorily as the trade will want.

It is our advice to all consumers to enter their order now and have their coal put in as promptly as possible.

Resolution Adopted by Alexandria Machinists' Union, Alexandria Lodge, No. 1496, Naval Torpedo Station.

Whereas, during the period of the war, when "approved views of progress in normal times" were not sought the National War Labor Board, the Ship Building Labor Adjustment Board and other Boards, representative in whole or in part of the government laid down the following principles in the setting of wages, both in government and private employ:

"1. The right of all workers, including common laborers, to a living wage is hereby declared."

"2. In fixing wages, minimum rates of pay shall be established which will insure the subsistence of the workers and his family in health and reasonable comfort."

3. "The relation between wages and the cost of living" should be a factor in determining wages.

4. "Inequalities of increases in wages or or treatment, teh result of previous wage orders or adjustments" should be considered.

Whereas since the war many pronouncements have been made by the President of the United States, Cabinet Officers and other high officials of the U. S. Government to the effect that it is desirable that the wage earner should maintain an "American Standard of Living," be able to live in health and decency, and properly educate his children, the latest of these pronouncements being made in the Labor Day address delivered by the Secretary of Labor, the Honorable James J. Davis, in Detroit, in which he said in part:

"I am against the living wage. It is not enough. We need to hear something of the saving wage. It is not enough for a man merely to exist, to meet the cost of living whatever it is, to pay the rent and buy food and clothing for his family. A man like the American workman needs, he earns and he demands something more than this. He wants to save and he should and must be able to do it."

Whereas, the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor in August, 1919, calculated the cost in Washington, D. C., of an exceedingly modest budget for a workingman's family consisting of husband, wife and three children, to provide a standard of living that they termed "a standard of health and decency," the average cost of which in May, 1921 (the lower point mark in the downward trend in the cost of living) in nineteen Seacoast Cities of the United States, would have been $2276.68, this budget providing absolutely no luxuries, contemplated no savings and assumed that the worker had in his possession household goods. The cost of this budget when reckoned by the hour for an employee working full time throughout the year would be 91c.

Whereas during the hearings accorded the navy yard employees and their representatives by the Navy Wage Board of Review, the facts were brought out that:

(a) It would take a wage of 91c an hour to provide a budget for the worker's family in health and decency and (b) wage data presented by the employees' representatives showed that many employers were paying 90c an hour to first class mechanics, this being the average first class rate in many localities; and

Whereas, the Secretary of the Navy acting upon the recommendation of the wage board, acknowledged that:

1. If wages were to be set in accordance with the increase in the cost of living as compared with the pre-war costs, mechanics would be entitled at the present time to about 90c per hour.

2. Many private employers are still paying rates of 90c per hour and over; and

3. The cost of living is now on the upward trend; and

Whereas, notwithstanding the liberal attitude which teh government has usually heretofore manifested in the setting of wages, and the facts which the workman's representatives presented in support of their claims, the Secretary of the Navy rendered a decision granting 73c per hour as a maximum for the basic trades and proportionately less than this for other less skilled groups, it being acknowledged that this new scale represented an increase of only 45 per cent above the pre-war level to meet an increase in the cost of living amounting to 80 per cent above that level; and

Whereas, it appears that the prime reasons which prompted the putting into effect of this drastic cut in wages were:

1. The desire of the Administration to economize in government expenditures.

2. The insistence on the part of some Members of Congress that rigorous economies be put into effect with a view to make a record for economy, with the same object in view as herein before stated. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of Alexandria Lodge, I. A. of M. in meeting assembled, this 10th day of Sept. 1921, hereby earnestly and emphatically protest against this apparent disregard of previous governmental policies, illiberal interpretation of the wage law, and disregard of facts and figures favorable to the employees; and

Resolved, That we call upon the President of the United States to direct the adoption of a wage schedule commensurate with the facts as herein set forth and thus carry out the real wishes of the masses of the people of the United States as against the insistent and well-defined plans of minorities of our population who desire apparently to see the wage earner reduced to proverty want and subserviency; and be it

Resolved, That our protest and the detailed reasons therefore be given publicity in order that the workers of the Nation and the public at large may know the real injustices which are being imposed upon the navy yard employees under the guise of economy and be it further

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to the President of the United States, Members of the Cabinet, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the United States Senate.

(Signed) L. M. BRUSHINGHAM
Secretary.
